Our Data Analytics services include:

- Creating a common customer file for an enterprise customer view;
- Data cleansing and rehabilitation;
- Customer segmentation and predictive analytics;
- Data warehouse/management;
- Customer data analytics;
- Uplift marketing analytics;
- Death Identification including Social Security Death Master file ("SSDMF") and robust alternate death record database.

EXPERIENCE AT WORK

CHALLENGE: DATA ANALYTICS

An international financial services company was required to connect common customers across their organization in order to comply with newly-passed state regulations. Navigant worked with key stakeholders from each individual business within organization to establish appropriate data extraction, inventory, validation and testing. This process incorporated parsing, supplementing and cleansing data when necessary.

the solution

Each business unit now receives monthly reports that identify common customers across the organization. Navigant's work enable the client to be in compliance with regulations across all related business unit and improved the customer experience due to identification of common customers across organization.

CHALLENGE: BUSINESS TRANSFORMATION

An Individual Life Insurance Division of an international financial services company was plagued with customer complaints regarding their payment process. Navigant partnered with the client to redesign their payment process to reduce customer complaints by providing management and analytical support including project management support, data gathering and analysis, and future state scenario projections and solutions.

the solution

Navigant's recommendations improved customer satisfaction and operational efficiency: customer complaints decreased 20% and turn down volumes decreased 25%.

CHALLENGE: IT STRATEGY AND TRANSFORMATION

The individual life insurance division of an international financial services company acquired a competitor's individual life insurance business. To meet the terms of the agreement within information technology requirements, thousands of policies, applications, systems, data, and interfaces had to be separated, migrated and integrated into our client's strategic solution within very tight timeframes. Working in collaboration with the individual life insurance and supporting stakeholder divisions, our experts developed a program management office governance frame work to manage the separation, migration and integration of data, systems and processing to the clients solution. The governance framework included developing workstreams, inventories, project charters, monitoring and reporting procedures, and enterprise compliance process substructure.

the solution

The individual life insurance IT requirements defined in the acquisition agreement were met within the ascribed timeline, as well as meeting the client's enterprise compliance standards for data and software, implementation, integration and controls.

CHALLENGE: RISK, COMPLIANCE AND CONTROL

A major international insurance company's operations area was required to respond to a regulatory inquiry into the handling of remittance and disbursement transactions for Group Universal and Group Variable Universal Products. Navigant conducted detailed transactional reviews and analysis to redesign and improve key transaction processes and accounting procedures.

the solution

The client was able to produce the required regulatory responses within established deadlines, including a comprehensive collection of information required to satisfy the inquiry. Navigant also provided the roadmap to and subsequent assistance in the implementation of the roadmap designed to mitigate the risk of reoccurrence of the root cause that triggering the inquiry.
