LIFE SCIENCES

GLOBAL MARKET ACCESS

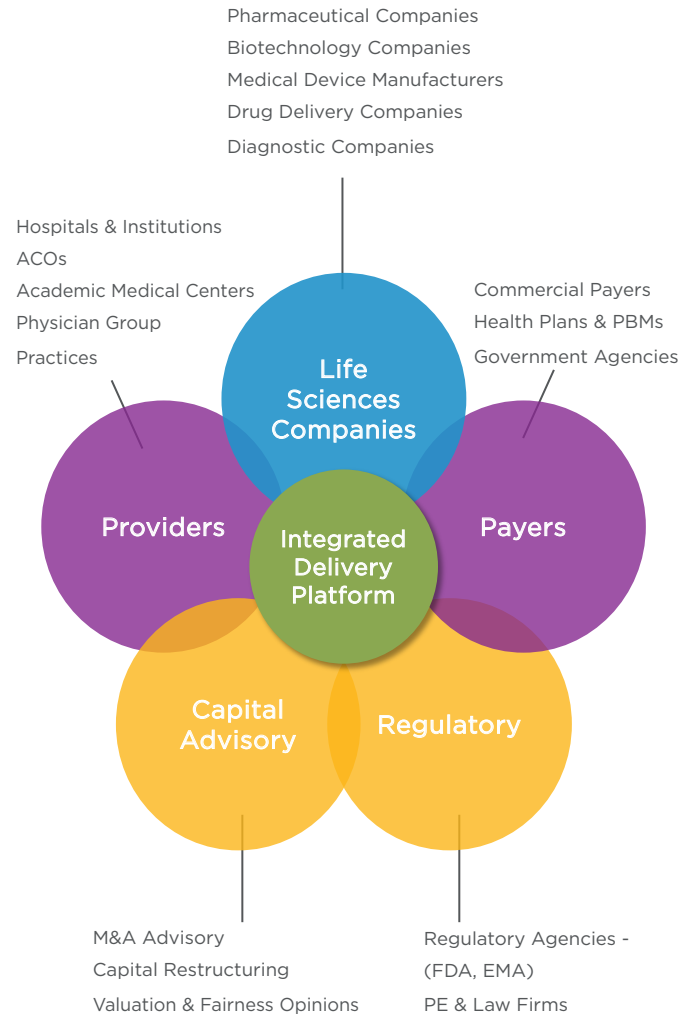

In today's highly dynamic global market access environment, companies face the challenge of continuous health reforms redefining innovation; blurring stakeholder interests, and evolving national, regional and local requirements for substantiating and capturing value.

At Navigant, we believe that market access is an integral part of optimal product development and lifecycle planning. To be successful, life science companies must integrate market access insights into clinical and commercial decision-making.

Navigant's Life Sciences Global Market Access Center of Excellence brings:

- Expertise in Pricing, Reimbursement & Access: A dedicated global team with deep expertise in pricing, reimbursement and market access across product development and lifecycles
- Global Network of Stakeholders: Access to a broad range of stakeholders including national, regional and local payers, pharmacists, key opinion leaders (KOLs), physicians and patients
- Rich Knowledge of Major Therapeutic areas: Oncology, immunology, pain, cardiovascular, metabolics, antibiotics and vaccines
- Rigorous Analysis to Deliver Tailored Actionable Insights: Advanced analytics, innovative methodologies, and qualitative and quantitative research techniques designed to bring actionable insights
- Industry Experience: Extensive pharmaceuticals, biotech and medical devices experience in both commercial and clinical development
- Global & Regional Perspectives: We have the ability to deliver global, local and affiliate engagements through our global capabilities and resources
